Chapter VI

פרק ו', משנה י"א: כל מה שברא הקדוש ברוך הוא בעולמו, לא בראו אלא לכבודו, שנאמר: כל הנקרא בשמי ולכבודי בראתיו יצרתיו אף עשיתיו, ואומר: ה' ימלך לעלם ועד.

Chapter 6, Mishnah 11: Everything that G-d created in His world, He only created for His glory¹. As is stated², "All that is called by My name and for My glory, I created it, I formed it, and I also made it." And it says³, "Hashem shall rule forever and ever."

Introduction

Chapter six of Pirkei Avos, which we learn and discuss this week, appears to be the final chapter. However, in fact Avos only contains five chapters of Mishnah. Chapter six consists of Beraysos⁴ which were added to these five chapters. This chapter discusses the greatness of Torah study, and the means by which each of us can acquire this attribute; it is therefore called by the name "Kinyan Torah," meaning the acquisition of Torah.

We have discussed many times that the original five chapters teach us how to attain piety, meaning how to conduct ourselves beyond the letter of the law. The same is true of this chapter. Since, in matters of holiness we must always be on the ascent, the same is true of our current chapter. It discusses an even greater level of piety than the first five chapters.

The simple reason for adding this sixth chapter, is to be able to learn one chapter on each of the six Shabbosos between Pesach and Shavuos. It is appropriate to learn Kinyan Torah on the sixth Shabbos, which precedes Shavuos, the day on which we receive the Torah.

The Simple Explanation of Our Mishnah

This teaching tells us that "Everything that G-d created in His world, He only created for His glory." How is this so? The Maharal of Prague explains this as follows. The entire Chapter Six discusses

1. Literally, "He did not create but for His glory."

2. Yeshayahu 43:7.

3. Parshas Beshalach, Shemos 15:1.

4. The Mishnah was written by sages who lived throughout the first two centuries of the Common Era. They were called the Tanna'im. Rabbi Yehudah Hanossi edited and canonized this great work. Beraysos are those works which were also written by the same sages, but were not included in the Mishnah.

Torah study. At the end of the chapter, the rabbis emphasize, that our Torah study may not be for the sake of our own honor. Rather we must learn Torah in order to bring honor to Hashem. How can we accomplish this? By conducting ourselves in an extraordinarily kind and gracious manner.

What is the meaning of the word “world?” The Hebrew word for world is “Olam - עולם,” which is derived from the root meaning concealment⁵. Why did Hashem create this “world,” this concealment of His holy light? Why did He create everything in this world? In order to reveal His honor. Just how is His honor revealed? This is accomplished by Jews using all of the world’s creations in order to serve Him with Torah and Mitzvos. However, the question is, exactly how does this happen? How does our Torah study reveal Hashem’s glory?

The Explanation

It is clear that Hashem created everything in this world, by virtue of the fact that He revealed this in His Torah. In the very first verse of the Torah, He wrote that⁶ “In the beginning of Hashem’s creation of heaven and earth.” This means that He created the world in a manner in which He revealed His presence within it.

Furthermore, He created the world in such a way that it requires (as so to speak) His constant involvement. As we say in the morning prayers⁷, “in His goodness He renews each day, continuously, the work of creation.” Creation was not a one-time action which occurred 5,779 years ago. Rather it is a constant on-going process⁸. The Omnipotent G-d did not (Chas Veshalom) need to create the world in this way. He could have created a world which could last throughout the entire span of the six millennia⁹ of its existence. There was no need (G-d forbid) to create the world in a way which would require His constant creative power.

However, Hashem created it in this manner in order that we, His creations, should be connected with Him at every moment. This enables us to constantly feel that through our Torah and Mitzvos, we are adding to and renewing the revelation of Hashem’s glory in the world¹⁰. In this manner He bestows upon us the greatest pleasure.¹¹

8. See Shaar Hayichud Vehoemunah Chapters 1 – 2.

9. See the Talmud Rosh Hashana 31, a.

10. That is in addition to the fact that we are fulfilling Hashem’s will.

11. Hashem established as a part of human nature, that we appreciate the work of our own hands far more than something even greater which was done by another. We therefore derive more pleasure from our own part in

PIRKEI AVOS OF THE WEEK

He accomplished all of this by establishing creation in this manner; it is as a constant process, which is taking place every moment. Because of this, we can connect to Him at every moment. Every time that a Jew recites a Berochoh for a particular food or drink, he is revealing Hashem's glory which is within the food or drink, and is creating it every moment. This "word of Hashem" which is within the food, gives life to the one who recites the Berochoh.

Bringing the glory of Hashem throughout the world by performing Torah and Mitzvos, we are adding the few remaining bricks to finish the construction of Hashem's dwelling place here in this world; in the Third Bais Hamikdosh with our righteous Moshiach now!
