בס"ד

THE RASHI OF THE WEEK

Week of

The First Days Of Pesach - Passover

15 Nissan, 5778 – March 31, 2018

Compiled from the works of

Rabbi Menachem Mendel Schneerson The Lubavitcher Rebbe

> by Rabbi Shmuel Mendelsohn

A Project of Vaad L'Hafotzas Sichos Copyright 2018©

An Outline of the Rebbe's Explanation of Rashi Shir Hashirim – The Song of Songs

Likkutei Sichos Volume 1, Page 59 Rashi in His Own Words

שיר השירים א', ב': יִשְׁקֵנִי מִנְשִׁיקוֹת פִּיהוּ כִּי טוֹבִים דֹדֵיךְ מִיָּיוֹן:

רש"י ד"ה כי טובים: ונאמר דוגמא שלו על שם שנתן להם תורתו ודבר עמהם פנים אל פנים ואותם דודים עודם ערבים עליהם מכל שעשוע ומובטחים מאתו להופיע עוד עליהם לבאר להם סוד טעמיה ומסתר צפונותיה ומחלים פניו לקיים דברו וזהו ישקני מנשיקות פיהו:

Shir Hashirim 1:2: Let Him kiss me with the kisses of His mouth, for your love is better than wine.

Rashi Heading: for... is better: This figure of speech was used because He gave them His Torah and spoke to them face to face, and that love is still more pleasant to them than any pleasure. They are assured by Him that He will appear to them to explain to them the secret of the Torah's reasons and its hidden mysteries, and they entreat Him to fulfill His word, and this is the meaning of "Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth."

Introduction

To paraphrase the famous "Four Questions" which are asked at the Passover Seder, "Why is this Weekly Rashi different than all other Weekly Rashi's?" The answer is, because on both this Shabbos and the following Shabbos we observe the holiday of Passover - Pesach, which marks our exodus from the Egyptian exile. Due to this, the regular order of Torah readings is deferred until after the conclusion of the festival.

However, there is never a difficulty in finding both comments of Rashi's on the Bible, and those of his comments which were explicated by the Lubavitcher Rebbe. Rashi interpreted and explained nearly all aspects of Torah. His commentary covers nearly the entire Bible - Tanach, meaning the Chumash, the Books of the Prophets, and the Writings - Kesuvim. Additionally, he explained nearly the entire Talmud. For an academic with lots of time, this would be no small accomplishment. However, for one who served as the rabbi of a community, was busy helping Jews from the devastation wrought by the Crusades to Jewish communities in Europe, taught daily classes in a Yeshivah which he founded, worked as a vintner and only lived to the age of 65, this was truly incredible.

However, our previous words only reflect the quantity of his work; the quality is indescribable. Before Rashi's commentary, the Talmud was available to scholars alone. It is written in a very terse manner, without punctuation, seemingly digressing from topic to topic. It is difficult for a layman to realize whether something the Talmud says is a question or an answer. Rashi changed all of that. He supplied the "key," which opened the Talmud and made it available to everyone. He explains clearly and concisely, phrase by phrase, exactly what the Talmud is saying. In much the same way that he made the Chumash available to beginners, he did the same for the Talmud.

Whomever follows our weekly Rashi knows how succinctly Rashi explains the Peshat of the entire Torah, and how clearly the Rebbe explains what Rashi is saying. However, aside from stating everything that the youngest student with the least background needs in order to understand the simple meaning of each verse, he also hid within his commentary the greatest mysteries of the Torah, as well as practical lessons for each of us in our service of Hashem. As a matter of fact the Alter Rebbe, the first Lubavitcher Rebbe, said that Rashi's commentary on Chumash is the "wine of Torah." It opens the heart and uncovers one's essential love and essential fear (of G-d). Rashi's commentary on Talmud opens the mind and uncovers the essential intellect<sup>1</sup>. The Rebbe, in his explanations of Rashi on the Torah, points out many of the instances where we see both the "wine of Torah," the mystical secrets of Torah revealed in Rashi, as well as the instances where we find practical lessons in the service of Hashem hidden in Rashi.

Rashi himself points out in his commentary to the Chumash a number of times, and the Rebbe's commentary on Rashi serves as a constant reminder, that Rashi is there (primarily) to explain Peshat. However, there is a difference between the way Rashi explains Peshat, the simple meaning of the verse, in the Chumash, and how he explains the simple explanation of the Prophets and the Writings. In the Chumash, Rashi explains Peshat in the simplest sense of the word. In the books of the Prophets, however, the level of Peshat he explains is not quite as simple. We see this clearly in Rashi's commentary, and the Rebbe explains a very logical reason for this. In a letter from 5732 - 1972, the Rebbe notes that "Rashi's commentary of the Prophets and Scriptures are also Peshat, because it is a continuation of his commentary to the Torah. However, in the books of the Prophets and Writings he is not as particular regarding what constitutes Peshat; it is likely that this is because the student studying the latter books of the Bible is older." He clarifies this further in a talk given on 7 Tammuz, 5743 - 1983. There he states that "Rashi's style in explaining the latter books of the Bible is not as precise as his style in explaining the Chumash. Despite the fact that both explain the simple meaning of the verse, the definition of what constitutes the simple meaning of the latter books is not as limited as the simple meaning of the Chumash. It has a broader connotation. This is because one's Torah studies begin with the Chumash, the Five Books of Moshe. This is in keeping with the curriculum which the Sages set out for us<sup>2</sup>. Once he has completed the Chumash, before he begins studying the Prophets, he has already completed the entire Chumash with Rashi's commentary, including all of the teachings of the Sages that Rashi quoted. Therefore, the student is ready for what constitutes a broader definition of Peshat.

<sup>1.</sup> See Hayom Yom, entry for Shevat 29.

Shir Hashirim - The Song of Songs

Of all of the books in the Bible, the Song of Songs seems to be the most paradoxical. Reading this book without any commentary or explanation, there does not seem to be anything Biblical or holy about it. Yet it is called the "Song of Songs," implying in Hebrew that it is the greatest of all songs. In fact, Rashi comments on its very first verse that "it is the greatest of all songs uttered to the Holy One, blessed be He, by His nation." Rabbi Akiva said that<sup>3</sup> "the entire universe is unworthy of the day on which the Song of Songs was given to the Jewish Nation. All of the Writings are holy, but the Song of Songs is the holy of holies." How do we reconcile the two; on the one hand the book does not seem particularly holy, on the other hand the Sages, who truly understood what sanctity means, deemed it holier than all of the other books of the Writings?

The explanation is, that the entire work is an analogy. It describes the relationship between Hashem, our husband, and the Jewish people, His wife. Despite the fact that we left Him and consorted with (seemingly) different men - gods (with a lowercase "g") we will return to Him and He will take us back.

Despite the fact that it is not the custom in Chabad to read Shir Hashirim on Pesach, nevertheless it is the custom in many fine Jewish communities to do so. Additionally, the custom is cited in the Code of Jewish Law. There is also a connection between the text of the Song of Songs and Pesach. Therefore, it seems worthwhile to use this time to explore one of several comments the Rebbe made about a Rashi in Shir Hashirim

<sup>2.</sup> See Pirkei Avos, 5, 22. "He (Ben Hai Hai) would say, Five years is the age for the study of Scripture (which begins with Chumash). Ten, for the study of Mishnah ..."

<sup>3.</sup> Mishnah Yadayim 3, 5.

We need to understand just what the connection is between Shir Hashirim and Pesach? The answer can be found in the Shulchan Aruch, the Code of Jewish Law. The Ramoh<sup>4</sup> states<sup>5</sup> that it is customary to read Shir Hashirim on the Shabbos of the intermediate days of the festival. If the festival begins on Shabbos, as is the case this year, it is read on the last day of Pesach." In the Shulchan Aruch Horav<sup>6</sup>, it says basically the same thing<sup>7</sup>. "We are accustomed to read Shir Hashirim on the Shabbos of the intermediate days of Pesach because it contains the concept of the exodus from Egypt. The connection to the exodus, is because it is written<sup>8</sup> "With My mighty steeds who battled Pharaoh's riders I revealed that you are My beloved."

The Explanation

The Rebbe explains<sup>9</sup>, that throughout the generations more and more leniency has been granted regarding the study of the mysteries of the Torah. During the epoch of the Talmud permission was only granted to select individuals to study Kabbalah, and then only after a great deal of spiritual preparation. Later on, the Ari Zal<sup>10</sup> taught that not only is it permissible to spread the study of the mysteries of the Torah, but it is a Mitzvah. Later on the Baal Shem Tov<sup>11</sup> was told that the Ultimate Redemption will not come until his fountains, which include the mystical aspects of Torah, have been spread forth to the outside, i.e. to those that appear to be outside, far from such concepts. By the time of the Alter Rebbe, all restrictions were lifted. The commandment to spread forth mystical teachings became stronger and stronger with each ensuing generation. By telling us that what is written in Shir Hashirim that "Your love is better than wine," means that "He will <sup>4.</sup> Rabbi Moshe Isserles (1520 - 1572), who was born and lived in Krakow, Poland. Since the Code of Jewish Law was written by Rabbi Yoseph Karo who followed the Sephardic customs, Rabbi Isserles added notes wherever the Ashkenazi custom is different.

<sup>5.</sup> Shulchan Aruch, Section Orach Chaim. Chapter 490, Paragraph 9.

<sup>6.</sup> This is the Code of Jewish Law composed by the Alter Rebbe, the first Rebbe of Chabad.

<sup>7.</sup> Chapter 490, Paragraph 17.

<sup>8.</sup> Shir Hashirim 1:9.

<sup>9.</sup> Likkutei Sichos, Volume 1, Page 59.

<sup>10.</sup> Rabbi Yitzchok Luria (1534 - 1572), who lived in the Holy city of Tzefas. He was the most famous Kabbalist of his day.

<sup>11.</sup> Rabbi Yisroel Baal Shem Tov was the eighteenth century Eastern-European rabbi who founded the Chassidic movement.

appear to them to explain to them the secret of the Torah's reasons and its hidden mysteries," Rashi is explaining that the true innermost secrets of the Torah will not be totally revealed until Hashem appears to us, in other words until the coming of Moshiach. Nevertheless, we must prepare ourselves now.

The Ari Zal said that one must taste the Shabbos food on Friday afternoon<sup>12</sup>. He says that it this is based on the statement<sup>13</sup> "Those who taste it will merit life." This is cited as law, as well<sup>14</sup>. In the same manner, the world is divided into seven millennia, each millennium represents a day of the week. Now that we are more than halfway through the sixth millennium, it is Friday afternoon and we have an obligation to taste the Shabbos food, the Torah of Moshiach. In Rashi's words this refers to the "secret of the Torah's reasons and its hidden mysteries." Now we all have an obligation to study Chassidic philosophy and at least have a "taste" of what is to come.

The Rebbe explains<sup>15</sup> that aside from the redemption of each and every one of us for which we yearn with the coming of Moshiach, there is also the redemption of Hashem (as so to speak), because He placed Himself into exile with us. However, additionally there will also be a redemption for the Torah. Now, throughout our exile the entire Torah cannot be revealed. It will first be when Moshiach comes, that "He will appear to them to explain to them the secret of the Torah's reasons and its hidden mysteries," the Torah which Moshiach will teach us.

(Adapted from a talk given on Shabbos Parshas Toldos, 5718)

To dedicate a week, a month or a year of

The Rashi of the Week, visit

http://rebbeteachesrashi.org/contact-us-dedicate-an-issue

You can find us on the web at www.RebbeTeachesRashi.org.

<sup>12.</sup> Sha'ar Hakavanos 62, a.

<sup>13.</sup> This is taken from the Mussaf service for Shabbos.

<sup>14.</sup> Mogen Avrohom to Shulchan Aruch Orach Chaim Chapter 250.

<sup>15.</sup> Likkutei Sichos Volume 25, Page 59.

DEDICATED IN HONOR OF the Lubavitcher Rebbe

* * *

IN HONOR OF

Chaim and Aiden Oded שיחין Morris

*

DEDICATED BY THEIR PARENTS

Rabbi & Mrs. Menachem M. and Chaya Mushka שיחיו Morris

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR MOTHER

Mrs. Brocha bas Reb Tzvi Nechemiah Hacohen ע"ה CohenPassed away on 8 Shevat, 5778
May Her Soul be bound in the Eternal Bond of Life

*

DEDICATED BY HER FAMILY

* * *

IN HONOR OF

Mr. Sholom Moshe Hacohen ben Tzivia 'ש' CohenFor a complete and speedy recovery
* * *

DEDICATED BY

Hatomim Moshe Shlomoh Zohar 'w Mars

*

May he merit to be a Chossid, a Yerei Shomayim and a Lamdon

מוקדש לזכות כ"ק אדמו"ר נשיא דורנו מליובאוויטש

* * *

לזכות

חיילי "צבאות השם" חיים ועדן עודד שיחיו מאריס

נדפס ע"י הוריהם

הרה"ת ר' מנחם מענדל וזוגתו מרת חי' מושקא שיחיו מאריס

* * *

לעילוי נשמת

מרת ברכה בת ר' צבי נחמי' הכהן ע"ה כהן

נפטר ביום ח' שבט, ה'תשע"ח

ת. נ. צ. ב. ה.

*

נדפס ע"י בני משפחתה שיחיו

* * *

לזכות

ר' שלום משה הכהן בן צבי' שי' כהן

לרפואה שלימה וקרובה

* * *

נתרם ע"י

הת' משה שלמה זהר שי' מארס

×

יהי רצון שיזכה להיות חסיד, ירא שמים, ולמדן